How to Make a Great Impression on a Woman

Wondering how to improve your dating game? You need to act in ways that make women feel safe and want to trust you. Most feminine women want to be with masculine men. You need to let your healthy masculinity shine in the beginning of a relationship. One of the identifying characteristics of a masculine man is his ability to take leadership. Feminine women love this. We want to feel your solidity and your strength- we want to be able to trust you enough that we can open-up to you.

Here are some practical tips for having great dates:

1. Call the woman on the phone to ask her out on a date. Do not rely on text messages to keep the relationship going.
2. Be directive about scheduling the date. For example "I have some time on Thursday at 6pm, can I see you then?"
3. Choose the place or suggests options. For example "I know a great place for brunch downtown." Or "would your prefer dinner or drinks?" "I'll choose a place."
4. Offer to travel to the woman. Do not suggest meeting in the middle. If it has been more than 2 dates, or you have known each other for a substantial period of time, offers to pick the woman up. Even if it is out of the way.
5. Pay the bill- pick up the check as soon as it hits the table so that the woman doesn't have to wonder if you are going to pay or not.
6. Arrange another date right away. Ask the woman out again either at the end of the date or within 1-2 days following. Don't leave them wondering when or if they are going to hear from you again. Don't put the ball in her court to reschedule.
7. Listen to a woman's interests on the date and for the next date suggests something that she would like to do.
